A picture is worth ...

In the era of 140 characters messages and 60 seconds long videos, do you have time to go through an hour long video?

Many don't.

With this core/basic need, thought that one page summary would serve better for such folks and on top, if its visual, the merrier.

So, instead of summarizing in text, started visual summaries, aka Sketchnotes, aka Graphic Recording.

Not limiting to just lengthy videos but sketchnoting any long-form content, typically technical, AI related and of course, if its interesting to me.

Following medium story details out my thoughts behind sketchnoting
